There are many ups and downs in life. Good and bad things happen, but it is important to remember, through it all, we are not alone. Over the years, many families have called Harrington House their home, often in the most difficult times of their lives. Women and their babies have been able to gain the stability and security of a roof over their heads, while attending school, finding a job and/or searching for other housing options.

Although there is much sadness with the closing of Harrington House at the end of August this year, there can be no argument that the families whose lives were changed by their stay at Harrington House are worth celebrating. None of this would have been possible without the support shown by our community, and for that, we would like to have a Harrington House Farewell Party.

We want to celebrate the dedication of our volunteers, donors and staff, for whom we are so very grateful. Most importantly, we also want to celebrate the hard work of our residents. To our residents and residents alum: No one is more deserving of celebration in bettering your lives than YOU. Please come join us for food, fun and friendly conversation.
